IoT Software Architecture Workshop

Build the base

Get to know your data pools!

Based on IoT-Connectivity and cloud centric digital services, product manufacturers can unleash the potential of digital transformation.

This is the reason why many companies start with the implementation of an IoT-Platform and digital solutions. For this cause, nobody has to invent a whole new approach. Your partners from conplement AG support you with suggestions, best practices and market-ready basic service for your smart connected products.

You don't need theory, you need practical support!

Our hands-on workshop is your perfect solution, because only with a suitable software architecture your application will be feasible in use.

Architecture has a great impact on costs, duration of project, your application and its expandibility.
